An Opportunity for Learning and Networking: Diocesan Evangelization and Stewardship Day

Do the pastoral priorities of your parish or cluster include any of the following:

- Forming young and old as disciples of Christ?
- Helping your parishioners to embrace stewardship and use their gifts of time, talent and treasure on behalf of the mission of the church?
- Reaching out to inactive Catholics or those who have never heard the Good News?
- Becoming a more welcoming church community?

Come to this year’s Evangelization and Stewardship Day:

Saturday, April 28, 2012

St. Catherine of Siena Church

26 Mendon-Ionia Road

Mendon

After prayer and opening remarks by Bishop Clark, Sr. Donna L. Ciangio, OP, D. Min., will offer the keynote: “Welcome and Engagement: the Dynamic Duo of Discipleship.”

The Parish’s Two Consultative Bodies:
The Pastoral Council and the Finance Council

According to church law and diocesan guidelines, each parish has 2 groups consultative to the pastor/pastoral administrator: a pastoral council and a finance council. When members of each group and parishioners at large understand and respect the particular role of each, the parish functions smoothly. If not, there may be conflicts or one group may usurp the functions of the other.

The Pastoral Council

Purposes:
- To develop a common vision and purpose, actively advocate for the poor and the powerless, and to extend Christian commitment to the surrounding neighborhoods and communities
- To orchestrate a statement of mission for the parish community and become the reference point for activity in the parish
- To provide recommendations for parish priorities, directions and policies through pastoral planning for worship, evangelization, outreach, stewardship, etc.
- To promote communication, understanding, and collaboration among parish organizations and between the parish, the bishop, the diocese and the universal Church.

Membership:
- 7-15 members—at least 2/3 from the parish-at-large; 1/3 may be appointed by the pastor/pastoral administrator
- Inclusive of the demographic realities of the community
- One trustee is an ex-officio member

The Finance Council

Purposes:
- Advises the Pastor/Pastoral Administrator regarding stewardship of parish financial resources including:
  - Assists in the preparation, presentation and review of an annual budget
  - Conducts self-administered audits of internal controls and diocesan policies and procedures
  - Offers advice regarding the results of regular inspections of all parish facilities, recommends repairs or replacements, and develops a plan of anticipated capital expenses to keep parish facilities in good working order
  - Provides long-range planning for the financial and physical needs of the parish
  - Provides and monitors an investment strategy for long-term parish funds
  - Gives consultation to the pastor/pastoral administrator on financial matters that require the bishop’s approval (acquisition, alienation, leasing, construction and renovation).

Membership:
- 5-7 members—appointed by pastor/pastoral administrator
- Expertise in accounting, business, administration, law and financial management
- Inclusive of the demographic realities of the community as much as possible
- One trustee is an ex-officio member

“While the Finance Council has significant responsibility for the stewardship of parish financial resources, it is the role of the pastor (or pastoral administrator) and the Pastoral Council to discern the directions and priorities that will advance the mission and life of the parish.”

Pastoral Council Update

“Care must be taken to integrate the Finance Council into the consultative structure of the parish, receiving input from and providing assistance to the Parish Pastoral Council as requested; while offering advice to the pastor (or pastoral administrator) as requested or required. It is strongly encouraged that minutes of each council meeting be shared with members of the other council.”

Pastoral Council Communication with Parishioners: Best Practices

To be an effective consultative group for the pastor/pastoral administrator, pastoral council members need to maintain regular, effective, two-way communication with parishioners.

Here are some practices employed in parishes and clusters throughout the diocese—hopefully, some will help you improve your own efforts:

Pictures of Pastoral Council Members Posted in Churches and on the Parish Website — In order to communicate, parishioners need to recognize members of the council!

Nametags for Pastoral Council Members at Masses and/or other Parish Events

Visibility at Coffee Hours — Does your parish have a regular coffee hour after one or more Masses? One local parish ensures that at least one pastoral council member is present monthly for its coffee hours. These times are intentionally scheduled for the weekend prior to the monthly council meeting. Council members wear nametags, and parishioners are encouraged to share their questions, ideas, and concerns. These are then brought to the pastoral council meeting.

Pastoral Council Agendas in the Bulletin and on the Website — A way to inform parishioners about the topics being discussed at the council meetings.

A Regular Council Column in the Bulletin — Share an abbreviated version of your minutes, tell parishioners the pastoral priorities and goals that are the year’s focus, invite their involvement in particular ministries or initiatives.

Open Forum at Council Meetings — While an open forum time has to be carefully arranged with a clear process and time parameters, if you provide a time and a method for parishioners to share their suggestions and bring issues to the attention of the council, you build their engagement and involvement with the parish.

Town Meetings — An annual gathering with parishioners can give the pastor/pastoral administrator an opportunity to offer a “State of the Parish” address as well as give council members an opportunity to get input from parishioners on specific questions the parish faces. It’s important, though, to plan carefully so that minor complaints do not overwhelm and discourage all present.

Parishioner Surveys — These need to be constructed carefully and with some expertise. A survey of parishioners—done in pews or on-line—can be a valuable component in assessing the needs of the parish, gaining parishioner input on particular directions being considered, and building involvement in the parish’s ministries.

Annual Report — Beyond an annual financial report to the community—coordinated by the Finance Council and parish administrative staff—the pastoral council can coordinate the development of a report focused on progress in addressing the parish’s goals as well as the successes and challenges facing each area of ministry.
The Pastoral Council and the Parish Conflict of Interest Policy

According to the diocesan guidelines for pastoral councils, each pastoral council member must be aware of and comply with the Parish Conflict of Interest Policy.

What do I have to do? Each trustee, member of the pastoral council, finance council, or any committee with delegated power annually needs to sign a statement affirming that the person:

1. has received a copy of the Parish Conflict of Interest Policy;
2. has read the policy, understands it, and agrees to comply by it;
3. understands that the parish is a religious organization which, to maintain its federal tax exempt status, must engage primarily in activities that accomplish one or more of its tax-exempt purposes;
4. discloses any potential conflicts of interest in writing.

Why? The purpose of the Policy is to protect the interest of the Parish when considering entry into a transaction or arrangement that could benefit the private interest of a trustee or volunteer of the parish.

What if I have questions or concerns? Talk with your pastor/pastoral administrator or business manager.

The Pastoral Council Update is prepared by Karen Rinefierd, Liaison for Pastoral Planning and Pastoral Council Formation in the Diocese of Rochester, for the use of pastoral leaders and pastoral councils.

New Evangelization Website Launched

http://spiritualpilgrim.dor.org/

The Spiritual Pilgrim: a Catholic Invitation to Faith” is an evangelization website created by the Dept. of Evangelization and Catechesis of the Diocese of Rochester. It is an invitation for people who are already searching the internet for a faith connection, longing for a spiritual home, or just wanting to know more about Catholicism. The site offers seekers a place to explore the way Catholics find Jesus in the Gospels, in the community, and in the teachings and traditions of the Catholic Church.

The purpose of “The Spiritual Pilgrim” is to answer some initial questions, then to connect the inquirer with a person in a parish for further conversation.
